

CASUAL DAY

Atlantis staff rock!

ATLANTIS staff dressed up in their best rock star outfits with Campus Manager Mr Christian Fritz stealing the show. Dressing up to be cool was the theme for the Casual Day in aid of charity.

Staff members from the college's five campuses participated by dressing up to be cool. More than R600 was raised on the day.

Mr Fritz led by example when he and his team of lecturers and staff came all dress and fired up for the day. Whilst doing his morning briefings he was continuously interrupted by "people wanting to take a photo of this celebrity".

Mr Fritz said that it was really good to dress up for a good cause and that his children helped inspired him to "dress for the occasion".

The other rockers had to fight off their fans too as it was very difficult not to notice Mr Envor Swartbooi's neatly done make-up.

Mr Albert Van Wyk's too sexy for my T-Shirt and Mr Roy Keyser's (mis)matching socks had the campus in a stitch.

Just as everybody thought that the ladies have lost out completely on this one, enter Ms Shirley October! And wow, did she rock!
